Democratic County Ticket For Director of the Poor, JACOB T. ANDERSON, of Bedford Township. For County Surveyor, GEORGE W. BLACKBURN, of New Paris Borough. RESOLUTIONS.

The Democracy of Bedford county, by its representatives in county convention assem-bled, recognizing the fact that the great question of the day is to bring about a cond common honesty in the conduct of state and county officials, most earnestly endorses and affirms the platform of the Democratic party as adopted at its state convention held at Harrisburg on the 15th inst.

2. The use of money in controlling votes and voters by Republicans in this county has become so common that the results of prin elections in the Republican party only indi elections in the Repinional parts of National Case the person or faction using the largest amount of money, and the same practises are common at the general elections. The Democratic party condemns the use of money to control elections and calls upon all good citizens to join in a crusade against this practice, so that elections may hereafter indicate the patriotic and honest judgment of the voters. 3. We deprecate the demoralizing warfar now waging between the greed of trusts and labor and express our sincere sympathy for the laboring man in this prolonged and un-certain contest. We believe that this warfare is the direct result of the encroachments s cornerations and the rapacious cel tralization of capital made possible by legislation, conceived, enacted and enforced by th moneyed power now dominating and controlling the Republican party. In this county the office of poor director e on the ticket nominated is of chief importance on the ticket nominated this day, and we ask all good citizens to join in the election of Jacob T. Anderson, this day nominated, who is honest and capable. The expenses of the poor house in the year 1890, as appear by official reports, were $11,754.36 and for the year 1900 $45.255.80. Nothing but disponesty and extravagance in the use of pulic moneys can account for the disbursement of such sums, and while the Democracy will in sist that the unfortunate poor shall be kindl and generously cared for, it will further insi the maintenance of these unfortunate shall not be made an opportunity to satisfy the dishonest greed of conscienceless officehold ers and their friends.

5. The candidate this day nominated to county surveyor, George W. Blackburg, Esq., is in every way well qualified to perform the duties of the office and we ask for him the sur port of the voters of Hedford county. 3. This county convention hereby author izes and empowers the executive committee of the Democratic party of Bedford county to fill any vacancy on the ticket this day nomnated, no marter how caused.

His record in that body should be enough to call to arms every honest voter in the state and induce them to wage relentless warfare upon the ticket chosen by the bosses who have the Keystore state in their clutches. The opinion of a man's neighbors and constituents should be a pretty accurate delineation of his character and fitness for public office. This pen picture of Harris is given in the Clearfield Republican in

It is the gauntlet thrown down by the gang to the people. By his nomination the Quay machine leaders admit they are proud of their crooked work and want the people to know the fact. They are willing to depend upon the great Republican majority in Pennsylvania and the ability of the Philadelphia machine to count 75,000 fraudu-

It would be dangerous Pennsylvania have been reckless in the past; but surely they will not cap the climax of their folly by being so foolhardy as to place this machine-manipulated man in control of the public

Still More Counterfeiting. The Secret Service has unearthed an other band of counterfaiters and secured a large quantity of bogus bills, which are so cleverly executed that the average person would never suspect them of being spurious. Things of great value are selected by counterfeiters for imitation, notably the celebrated Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has many imitators bu no equals for indigestion, dyspepsia, con stipation, nervousness and general debility. The Bitters sets things right in the stom ach, and when the stomach is in goo order, it makes good blood and plenty of it. In this manner the Bitters gets at the seat behest of a few political reformers of strength and vitality, and restore vigor better for him in the day of wrath that weak and debilitated. dates For Mayor-Active Plety-The Pate of Spain. Special Correspondence of the GAZETTE. New York, September 10.-I have seen New York in many a political muddle, but never before have I seen anything that will compare with the present confusing political fight. The friends of one day are the political foes of the day that succeeds and lifelong enemies are now with their arms around each other's necks. In fact, it may be called one of the most remarkable changes that has ever taken place in our state or national politics. There is one very gratifying feature of the coming campaign. The main fight will be for the office of mayor, which is the most prominent feature in the present political strife, and while it is true that every penny of the one hunto have a man like him in charge of dred millions that we expend annually the state treasury. The people of for the city government must pass through the hands of the comptroller it is also true that to a great extent the power that directs it lies in the office of mayor. The comptroller and mayor being of the same political par ty, can use that great income practically as they please. The two great political parties under the plea of patriotism have pulled down their ensigns, which in the past bave so many glorious memories, and have run up a flag on which is emblazoned the word "Independence." Independent of what? Does it propose, says Mr. Croker, to blot the name of Tammany and its supporters with a bar sinister across its glorious escutcheon and place mark of infamy on that name which has been the sheet anchor of American politics and saved it from political disaster and ruin? Yet here, in the most complex government ever created in the brain of man, you propose to turn over this great city to a body of men who, whatever may be their high character, their mercantile, religious national politics. It has become fash ionable to abuse and cry down the politician, as though learning the art of government was a shame. official aspirants are of a better character than any we have seen in the present generation. One party desires that our next mayor shall be Seth Low, a young man, indeed (why, he must be nearly fifty), who has had the benefit of experience far beyond that of any of the opposing candidates. He served a term in congress, two terms as the mayor of the great city of Brooklyn, has had the chief direction of one of the greatest mercantile firms in the country. As president of Columbia college for several years he has given And he said, "Jacob." And the Angel satisfaction. In religious circles he has a name honored and respected Now, in the name of all that is good and great, what more do you want for mayor? But hold, is he the only can didate? Bless you, no; we have them here by the dozen. We could measure them by the cord or by the bushel, and among them all, not excepting Seth Low himself, worthy among the worthstands Bird S. Coler, the present controller of the Greater New York. The campaign which brought him into political prominence was one of the most severe and trying that New York had ever known. A consolidation of all the towns and cities for many miles had been legislated into one great municipality known as the Greater New York. For a thoroughly corrupt political coalition it had long been known under its administration Poor men grew suddenly rich, yet this tremendous aggregation of municipal wealth was guided by an insignificant body, the number of which could be counted on the fingers of a single hand.

They went on disposing of the rich

Taking this for a basic fact, Tammany was entitled to rule, for she time, down to the supervisor of public health, who swept our streets for two dollars a day. Where were the votes of your reformers then? Where was at Tammany during that campaign? The richest man in the world is closing up his life by placing the means of knowledge within the reach of the humblest and most ignorant of our people. John D. Rockefeller has done much and purposes to do more. These gracious gifts may be compared to the descent of fiery tongues on Pentecest, when the multitude was expecting the second coming of Christ. If the hopes of the donors are to be realized it may be that within the present decade we may see in something more than vision the coming of the millennium. Some anticipate it in a universal tongue, and from the equator to the poles, but one language will be spoken; another of these expectant visions is that the future great battles of the world will be fought upon the sea, and we are not quite sure that the eventful day is not lose at hand when the fate of the astions shall be decided. Let us not forget that Spain, one of the ploneers of exploration and discovery whose soldiers have built up along the vestern coast of the Pacific one of the aost magnificent empires of a scient or modern times, but when confronted, at a later day, by the peoples of other lands gathered in defense of a common cause whose name had no historic memories, it toppled to pieces like a house of cards and for the future will hardly be known as a cipher in history unless rescued from obscurity by some miracle without a parallel. A STORY OF DAN RICE. PUT TO THE TEST. The Great Clawn Did Not Forget the Tent Man's Bill. Public Endorsement is what

One story of Dan Rice, the veteran circus clown, illustrates his strict sense of honesty and gralitude for favors. Once he was stranded in Cincinnati, the story goes, and was unable to start a show on the road because he had no tent and could not raise money to buy one. The tent Rice needed would be worth $2,500. The manager of a tent oncern sent for the clown one morning and, taking him to his factory, showed a big tent that was just finished. Rice looked at it with hungry eyes He turned away, with a sigh. "Fine tent, don't you think?" asked the capvus maker.

Rice looked back at it over his shoul-"It's yours," said the tent man. Rice was like a playful kitten in an take that tent and start your show, and if you ever get money enough to pay me for it the price is $2,500." Within two weeks Rice was on the ful career. For 15 years he never re ferred to the tent, although he often met the man who made it. One after noon he asked the tent man to be his guest at one of his shows, then in Cinmnati. The two sat looking on, and

The canvas man declared that it cer

"By the way," added Rice, "here's that $2,500 I owe you." He took a roll of bills out of his pocket and handed it to the tentmaker, who pocketed it with-out unrolling it. The old tent man loved to relate this story and always de clared that the great men of this coun try were P. T. Baraum, John Robinson and Dan Rice .- New York Mail and Express.

vachtsmen and all of them are of much popular interest. Perhaps one of the post interesting articles in the number is The Beginnings of International Rifle Match Shooting, by Gen. George W. Wingate. In addition to these papers, the September Outing has a number of others of peculiar value There is one on Cattle Breeding for Amateurs, showing the influence of food; another on Lawn Tennis on the Continent, by Clarence Hobart, who has recently returned from a complete tour of European tennis fields. Roque the modern croquet, is explained by a one time champion at the game. W H Mahly. The Maine Sporting Camp and Guides; The Evolution of Sport with the Gun; The Muscallogue in Flambeau Waters: The Saving of the for his life in a St. Lawrence; Bird Architecture; Coursing in Kansas and Nebraska, are other papers of interest and practical worth. There is, too, a strong Indian story, The Wedding of Beaver Eyes, by 5. Hough; a description of the famous orse race of France, the Grand Prix De Paris, by Guy Wetmore Carryl. Also the monthly comment by Caspar Whitney on current matters in the View-Point, which is very fully illustrated. Indeed, the entire magazine is full of illustrations.

THE BABY'S LITTLE JOKE. It Worried the Fat Man, but He Tried to Enjoy It,

It happened in one of the late trains. Everybody was trying to get to sieen and when the voice of a baby was sud denly lifted up in a robust wail it was not met with expressions of joy. It cried steadily from Spring Garden street to Columbia avenue. Then it accidentally dropped a pasteboard box it had. A very stout and, like his kind, very affable man across the aisle stooped beavily and picked it up.

The child stopped crying as it took it and promptly dropped it again. The man, thinking it an accident, picked it up once more. This time the baby actually smiled, and as he threw it down audibly cooed with delight. The man looked distinctly uncomfortable and became interested in something outside the window. The child looked at the box a moment, then at the man and, seeing nothing else, resumed his wail, with much added wind. look of despair resettled on the face of the woman with the headache, and she gave a convulsive shudder as she felt her head beginning to jump.

She gave one awful glance at the baby and then leaned over to the stont man, back of whom she was sitting "My dear sir," said she, "I have a vio lent headache, and I am in misery Won't you please pick up that box again?" And with a highly artificial smile he complied. Out of pure cour tesy be became a box lifting autom aton, his piles of adipose making each stoop come harder. But when he wiped the perspiration from his brow and staggered out of the car at Germantown he got a grateful smile from the afflicted woman, as well as every other passenger, that he felt paid him. Scrofula Scrofula is but a modified form of Blood Scrofula is but a modified form of Blood Poison and Consumption. The parent who is tainted by either will see in the child the same disease manifesting itself in the form of swollen glands of the neck and throat, catarth, weak eyes, offensive sores and effective sores and abscesses and oftentimes white swelling—sure signs of Scrofula. There may be no external signs for a long time, for the disease develops slowly in some cases, but the poison is in the blood and will break out at the first favorable opportunity. S. S. S. cures this wasting, destructive disease by first purifying and building up the blood and stimulating and invigorating the whole system. performer turned to the mirror to "make up." September: 10.—The Hawkeye of September 3 has the name of your correspondent, Capt. Josiah Hissong, as one of the mounted aides to Dr. E. J. Miller in the parade at Everett on August 20. I wish to correct the reporter. I was in Everett on that day and was standing on the porch at the Union hotel with quite a number of comrades when the parade passed on its way to the cemetery. My injuries incepacitate me from taking part in parades, either mounted or as a marcher. The parade was a very creditable one.
